

PUI Assignment 6A

New Lo-Fi & Hi-Fi Prototype*Design Decision (Low-Fi)

I sketched out a separate cart page for my website design. Each product will display in a horizontal row, where all the information about the specific product will display. I used the dropdown format for color, foam, and quantity so that users will be able to still change/reselect those properties after added the product to cart.

Design Decision (Hi-Fi)

From Low-Fi to High-Fi, I mainly adjusted the spacing and layout of the cart items so that the page will be also visually consistent with the other pages on my website. I used the same button and dropdown element from other pages. I also rearranged the different column area proportion according to the length of the content needed for each information column.
